

My altar will honor the memories and fun my parents instilled in me. They taught me that fun begins at home it was important to them to have us recycle, reuse, be creative and enjoy simple fun. Also, food played a big part of celebration and gatherings. These lessons I pass on to my granddaughter through stories and hands on experience.

— Vera Bocanegra Powers